RE: To Zucker regarding MSA

Yes, fair enough. I just emailed her again and told her she needs an answer. But she had been made perfectly aware – to challenge will not include either you or me!!

Sherri: I think Frankfort and Brady are working hand in hand, and they are having Brady take the lead on getting the MSA finalized, so I don't really think that is the issue. Do you think I can just call Allen back and tell him we are having client issues that we can't discuss at this point but that she might be getting new counsel. Just as a courtesy to him?
